THE CLOSING OF THE RESTAURANT PRIVATE BOXES.

(San Jose Mercury)

The ordinance abolishing closed boxes in restaurants and saloons is a step in the line of progress. It may seem a hardship for awhile to those who have found them profitable, but it will only be temporary, as patrons will soon become accustomed to the regular dining-room. In any event, the moral good to the community is a desideratum of greater moment to the many than the mere money-making of a few. No one believes that these boxes were all used for illicit purposes. Doubtless many reputable business men were in the habit of patronizing them as a place to bring their friends to luncheon or dinner and to discuss business matters. Unfortunately San Jose is without a social club, centrally located, where pleasant intercourse may be had among business and professional men at the noon hour as in other cities, hence the restaurants and the private boxes in them were resorted to.

No objection could be raised against this legitimate use of the boxes, or against their use by private families on holidays and other occasions; but when they were availed of by disreputable men and women for at least questionable purposes, and respectable people occupying nearby boxes were often compelled to hear vulgar and obscene badinage, it was surely time to call a halt. The Mayor and Common Council fully investigated the matter before taking action. Complaints were constantly coming to them from reputable citizens that the boxes were little less than nests of vice and that some legislation should be passed in the interests of those concerned in the moral welfare of the community. It is gratifying to know that a number of the restaurant men who found it impossible, even with much vigilance, to prevent the abuse of the boxes, agreed with the Council that the only remedy was to abolish them. It was not their fault that indecent people frequented them.

To say that all cities have closed restaurant boxes, or rooms for small private parties, is not quite true. A number of California cities unfortunately furnish such conveniences, but few Eastern cities, large or small, have them; and when the Eastern tourist comes to us and finds them in our restaurants he is usually surprised if not shocked. Perhaps none of its "attractions" did more to bring San Francico into disrepute the world over than its infamous French restaurants. It was one of the few cities in America which permitted them, and when after the recent fire correspondents of newspapers and magazines flocked to the coast scarcely one of them, in their descriptions of the city, failed to note the French restaurant and the immoral influence. It is true that the private box dining-rooms of San Jose were not replicas of the French restaurants of San Francisco; but that they were too often used for the same purpose cannot be denied. We are well rid of them, and the Mayor and Common Council deserve the thanks of the community for passing an ordinance abolishing them.

A Farewell Party.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Stratton gave them a farewell party at their home on Sunnyside Ave. Saturday night. The company had a merry time with games and other social enjoyments until a late hour, when refreshments were served.

Much regret is felt at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Stratton and family, as they have made scores of friends during the years of their residence here and have been instrumental in building up that part of the town known as Sunnyside. They leave for their new home near Quincy, Plumas county, on Sunday.

Mr. Stratton has secured a place of over 500 acres, consisting of some 200 acres of fine standing white and sugar pine timber, 200 acres of meadow hay land, besides a small family orchard, apples and pears doing exceptionally well there. On the place are about fifty cows, besides a number of other cattle. The place has a large hotel building upon it with some seventeen guest rooms, furnished. Then there is a postoffice on the premises and L. J. has entered the employ of Uncle Sam as postmaster.

As the new Western Pacific is expected to reach Quincy within the next two years, it is evident that there will be lively times there. May the new location prove every way satisfactory to them.

PRESS NOTES

The "How I earned my dollar" social which was given by Ladies Guild of the Congregational Church last Tuesday evening was a decided success, netting quite a sum to the fund for enlarging the Guild room. The telling in verse of "how I earned my dollar" was most interesting and unique. The musical program was as follows: Piano duet, Mrs. Merrill and Mrs. Schuyler; vocal solo, Mrs. Luther; reading, Mrs. Shaw; vocal duet, Miss Davis and Mrs. Merrill; vocal solo, Mr. Morton.

To my friends and patrons: I wish to thank you for your past patronage, and ask you to continue the same favor on my successor, Mr. Lee, who is a first-class barber as well as a good citizen.

CARSON BENNER.

J. L. Hagelin made a business trip to San Francisco Saturday.

In another column we print a statement of the condition of the Bank of Campbell which is certainly a splendid showing.

A surprise party was given to Mrs. Herbert Sault at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Burns Wednesday evening, the occasion being a birthday anniversary. A fine time was enjoyed by all present.

The Old Maids Convention given by the young ladies of the Congregational Church Friday evening, was the funniest possible production. The girls were all in characteristic costume with corkscrew curls, umbrellas, bird cages, cats, etc., supposed to belong to a spinster's paraphernalia. The convention dealt exhaustively with the subject, "How to capture a man." The officers of the convention were Miss Mary Fablinger, president, and Miss Lillian Smith, secretary.

The twelfth anniversity of the Campbell W. C. T. U. will be held in the Coffee Club on Tuesday, December 11th. A complimentary dinner to honorary members will be a feature of the occasion.

Rev. Andrew Beattie, of Santa Clara, brother of our townsman, Wm. Beattie, has been honored by receiving an invitation to deliver the address at the annual dinner of the Century Club of Boston, which will be held some time this month.

COURT TO DECIDE.

President Virtually Decides Case Before Being Tried.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Developments of the day in the Japanese situation indicate plainly that the President has taken the stand of deciding the case and trying it afterwards. In other words, in his message to Congress he frankly took the stand that the Japanese contention was right and should be sustained even by armed force from the Federal Government, and today he is behind a movement to have the matter carried to the Supreme Court and there adjudicated.

The President some time ago and without waiting for a decision by the Supreme Court, cabled Ambassador Wright at Tokio to assure Japan that the United States Government would see to it that the Japanese treaty was observed, and now court proceedings are being pushed. In other words, the President decided the case first and then issued orders to Federal attorneys at San Francisco to see what the United States Supreme Court considered the law in the case to be.

According to today's developments the administration is in the attitude of citing duplicity towards the public and of making an explanation to Japan that does not explain. It is evident that if the Supreme Court of the United States should decide that California is right, then the President of the United States must put himself in the attitude of repudiating Root's cablegram to Tokio and his own message of yesterday, which was of course meant for consumption by the Japanese Ambassador for cabling purposes to Japan.

The present treaty between the United States and Japan is what caused all the trouble, expires this year. From within the administration circles there comes the announcement that negotiations have already been opened to execute another treaty. It is hinted that the extreme attitude of friendliness toward Japan taken by the President was with the idea of establishing such cordial relations that a satisfactory treaty could be enacted. The first steps looking to the treaty have already been made.

Prune Prices Good.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Statistically, the California position of prunes was never stronger at this stage of the season. According to statements made by packers that the advance sales of prunes have surpassed previous records, it does not appear that the demand is yet satisfactory. Reports of California packers are daily in receipt of orders for forward shipments from the Coast and buyers are preparedto pay full prices for what they want.

J. K. Armsby, who is visiting the New York office of the J. K. Armsby Company in New York, when seen today for his views on the situation, said:

"Prunes certainly have the center of the stage now. Future sales this year are far above the normal, and instead of depressing the trade it seems to make them hungry for more. There was exceptionally heavy short interest, which of rourse helped the market upward. In other words, it helped to put prices on their present basis ahead of time, but the market would have gone to the present price anyway. The law of supply and demand would take care of that. Only about ten per cent. of the 1906 crop is left on the Coast now, and yet there is no speculative buying East."

BOLD ROBBERIES.

Three Railroad Depots Entered and Escapes Arrest.

One of the boldest robberies ever committed in this section of the State was reported from Milpitas late last night.

An unknown burglar entered the Southern Pacific depot at Milpitas by means of a passkey. The lock on the Wells Fargo strong box was broken off and a number of express money orders stolen; about a dozen locks were also carried away. After scattering articles all over the floor, the thief made his way to the freight shed and prying the lock off the door, helped himself to the hand car, which was kept in the shed. By means of this car he traveled as far as Warm Springs.

At Warm Springs the Southern Pacific agent sleeps at the depot. The burglar, on reaching this point, left the car and by the means of his pass key opened the station door. The agent, who was awakened by the noise, was suspicious that all was not right, and arming himself lay in wait for the prowler.

The burglar evidently was not aware that any one slept at the depot, for on opening the door he flashed a light in the room; as he did so, the agent fired. In the excitement the bullet went wide of its mark. The burglar made a dash for the hand car, which he reached in safety, but not until he had returned the agent's fire. A running battle was kept up between the two. However, the thief had the advantage, and was soon out of reach of bullets. He was going as fast as he could make the car travel in the direction of Niles. Within five minutes the night operator at Niles had been notified of the affair, and told to be on the lookout for the robber.

However, the fellow was not yet through with his midnight hold-ups. On reaching Irvington the depot was again broken into. Again he went through the Wells Fargo strong box, but this time he did not take any express money orders, though he opened numerous packages and scattered the contents over the floor. The only thing of value taken at this point was about $12 worth of cigars.

About 3 a. m. yesterday morning a hard-looking stranger appeared at the depot at Niles. He entered the telegraph operator's office and started to walk behind the counter. He was told that no one was allowed there. He said he was cold and again attempted to walk past the operator, who ordered him out.

This was the last seen of the man. The officers are positive he was no other than the robber, and the peculiar thing about the affair is the fact that the operator who had been notified to be on the watch for just such a suspicious character, permitted the man to escape without attempting to hold him or notifying the officers until late yesterday morning.

Constable Costigan, of Milpitas, who brought the report to Sheriff Ross late last night, stated to The Times man that he was not notified of the robbery until 7 o'clock yesterday morning. He at once started an investigation and fund the handcar, with which the man had made his escape, stuck in the mud beneath the bridge, just this sity Niles.

A number of Southern Pacific detectives reached Niles early yesterday and are using every effort to locate the man who entered the operator's office there. They have a good description of the suspect and it will be next to impossible for him to escape.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—A very important rumor, which, however, lacks official confirmation at the Navy Department, is that the department ie about to order the Oregon and Wisconsin, the only two battelships on the Pacific, to be in commission at the earliest possible moment. This may be a part of the Navy Department program, announced a few days ago, which is the placeing of a fleet in the Pacific and Asiatic stations which could be easily combined. Nothing, however, was said about the Oregon and Wisconsin in the Navy Department program. That program came out at the acute stage of the quarrel of the United States and Japan, and followed fast on General Wood's recommendation that the army in the Philippines should be increased. The orders of the Navy Department with respect to the Oregon and Wisconsin, if carried out within a short time, will show that there is more preparation for contingencies in the Navy Department than is given out officially.

In Time of Peace.

In the first months of the Russia-Japan war we had a striking example of the necessity for preparation and the early advantage of those who, so to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared for any emergency. Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it has been contracted and before it has become settled in the system. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use. For sale by Farmers Union, Agents.
